

Dear [NAME]

RE: Extended Furlough – Coronavirus Job Retention Scheme

As you will be aware, the ongoing Covid-19 pandemic continues to affect the business of the company. The government has announced another countrywide lockdown starting on 5 November, expected to last until 2 December 2020. This poses further difficulties for the company.

The government has announced that the Coronavirus Job Retention Scheme (furlough) is extended ('Extended Furlough') for the lockdown duration. To maximise viability of its business and to mitigate against potential job losses, the company proposes to utilise the Extended Furlough. Your furlough will be on a flexible basis where you may be required to work some of your normal hours, at your normal rate of pay, and receive furlough pay for the remainder of your contractual hours.

This Extended Furlough arrangement is expected to run until 2 December 2020, although you may be required to return to your normal hours of work sooner or this agreement may be extended, as the need arises and subject to the changes in the Extended Furlough and further guidance from the government.

We have set out in this letter our current understanding of the changes we need to make to your contract of employment to implement the Extended Furlough. However, we may need to make additional variations to your contract in the light of further clarification of the Extended Furlough scheme. Our ability to pay you for furloughed hours during the Extended Furlough period will be dependent on our acceptance into the scheme and receipt of funds from HMRC.

The proposed changes to the terms of your employment are:

- The period from [DATE] up to and including 2 December 2020 will be the Extended Furlough period. You will remain employed by the company, but the terms of your employment will be modified as set out in this letter.
- The period of Extended Furlough may be curtailed if the need arises or extended if need be and subject to the scheme termination being postponed.
- For the duration of the Extended Furlough, your normal hours of work will be reduced as set out below:

[Set out the hours and days of work / shift pattern and how they will be notified. If the reduction is down to zero hours, say so]

'Furloughed Hours' will be the period of time in which you would usually work (calculated in accordance with the Extended Furlough) but have been authorised not to work in accordance the terms set out in this letter.

We may make further changes to your hours of work during the Extended Furlough, according to the needs of the company's business. This may include increase or decrease in your hours of work. We may also require you to cease work for us completely for a period of time so that all of your usual hours of work will be Furloughed Hours. We will write to you to confirm any significant variations to your hours of work or your work pattern.

- During Furloughed Hours, the company shall be under no obligation to provide any work to you and revokes any powers you hold on our behalf.
- You agree not to do any work for us during Furloughed Hours. You will not attend your workplace and will not carry out any work for us or on our behalf. You should note that it is a condition of our eligibility for the Extended Furlough that in Furloughed Hours employees do not provide any services or generate any revenue for the employer, or for any organisation linked or associated with the employer.
- For the Furloughed Hours, in lieu of your normal pay, your pay shall be reduced to 80% of your normal remuneration, subject to a maximum of £2,500 (gross) per month. Tax, National Insurance contributions and any other statutory deductions will be made in the usual way, and you will be paid in arrears on the dates as per your normal pay cycle by the normal method.
- During Extended Furlough for the hours of work which are not Furloughed Hours, you will receive your normal pay.
- Your normal remuneration for calculation of your pay for Furloughed Hours is as defined by the Extended Furlough provisions in force at the time of pay falling due in the relevant period.
- Subject to Extended Furlough being amended, your normal remuneration covers amounts arising out of a legally enforceable agreement, understanding, scheme transaction or series of transactions. Such amounts include your basic wage, commission payments, overtime and other sums you may be so entitled to.
- You agree to waive any entitlement to further remuneration for the Furloughed Hours.
- If HMRC rejects our claim under the Extended Furlough or decides not to fund your wage or any part of it for any reason during the Extended Furlough, the company will be entitled not to pay you the amounts set out above in respect of the Furloughed Hours and any amounts paid to you shall be limited to the maximum amount which the company is able to recoup from HMRC.
- If you are opted into automatic enrolment, your minimum employer pension contributions will be paid in the normal way, calculated with reference to the reduced pay you receive for the Furloughed Hours.
- You shall ensure that [NAME OF LINE MANAGER] has up-to-date contact details for you so that you may be contacted during the Extended Furlough.
- Throughout the Extended Furlough, you remain bound by all terms of your employment save the variations listed here.
- To protect the company's business interests, you agree during the Extended Furlough not to do any work for any third party either as an employee or a worker, self-employed or a contractor, other than with the company's prior written permission. If you are in breach of this condition, the company may have to withhold your pay or pay you a reduced amount reflecting your breach.

- During your Furloughed Hours, you may undertake training for the company which is directly relevant to your employment and which the company will agree with you prior to the training being undertaken.
- Should you fall ill or need to self-isolate, you must notify the company as per the terms of your employment and the notified company procedure.
- Your period of Extended Furlough will end when any of the following events occur:
 - you or the company cease to be eligible for funding under the Extended Furlough scheme;
 - the company gives you notice of one day that your employment will resume on the terms and conditions which applied immediately before your Extended Furlough commenced, or on such terms and conditions as further amended to take account of the applicable circumstances; or
 - your employment is terminated for any reason.
- When your Extended Furlough ends, in the event that there is still any disruption in provision of work, and accordingly, a diminution in the requirements of the business for work of a kind for which you are employed, or any other occurrence affecting the normal working of the business in relation to the work you are employed to do, the company reserves the right not to provide you with work without any pay except for statutory guarantee payments.
- You will continue to accrue holiday in the normal way while on the Extended Furlough and the normal rules as to the taking of annual leave will continue to apply. Where the arrangements set out here or the effects of the Covid-19 mean that it is not reasonably practicable for you to take all of your accrued holiday in the current leave year, you may take the portion of your leave not used for this reason in the two leave years immediately following the leave year in respect of which it was due.

[Insert this paragraph if you are proposing to put 20 or more employees on furlough leave:-
In view of the special circumstances of the coronavirus epidemic, the company believes that consultation with employees' representative under s.188 TULRCA 1992 may be dispensed with and will not be undertaken.]

You are required to observe strictly the health and safety measures the company has put in place in accordance with the official guidance to minimise the risk of coronavirus infection and spread of the disease.

If you agree to this temporary variation, please sign and date below and return a signed copy of the letter to the address stated above. Please keep a copy for your records. If you prefer to respond by email, then please include in your email the text of acceptance below and include a reference to this letter. The changes shall be immediately effective from the date of your acceptance.

Yours sincerely,
